DESCRIPTION

The Old Pound House offers charming and characterful accommodation, tastefully presented throughout and extending to approximately 2,057sqft. Combining period features with comfortable living space, the property enjoys a delightful rural setting whilst remaining conveniently accessible.

Enjoying ample reception space across the ground floor, the property offers flexible living with scope for further expansion into the former press room, subject to the necessary consents. Four bedrooms are situated on the first floor, while externally the property benefits from parking, a double garage and a pasture paddock suitable for grazing.

ACCOMMODATION

The accommodation is arranged over two storeys and offers a well-balanced combination of reception and bedroom space. On the ground floor, the principal sitting room benefits from a wealth of character, with exposed features and a striking inglenook fireplace containing a panoramic screened woodburner forming the heart of the home. A separate dining room provides further flexibility and enjoys an outlook to the rear of the dwelling.

An option could be explored to develop what is currently known as the cider barn as it houses a huge solid oak cider press, historically used in the production of cider for the Stover Estate during its ownership by the Templar family, offering both character and a connection to the property's heritage. The space could lend itself to a variety of uses, including a kitchen/dining room or further sitting area.

The kitchen offers a range of fitted units with space for appliances and room for informal dining, while also providing access to the front of the property and garden beyond.

On the first floor, the four bedrooms are all well-proportioned, with a mixture of double rooms providing flexibility for family use, guest accommodation, or home working. These rooms are serviced by a centrally located family bathroom comprising a bath, separate shower, wash basin, and WC.

OUTSIDE

To the front of the property, off-road parking provides space for multiple vehicles and leads to a large double garage. The garage is equipped with power and excellent lighting and features a first floor above, offering useful storage or potential for a home office, complete with a spacious shower room and WC. This versatile space is ideal for hobbies, home working, or potential additional accommodation, subject to the necessary consents.

The property benefits from generous grounds extending to approximately 2.9 acres, creating a natural and attractive setting that perfectly complements its rural location. The immediate gardens provide ample space for outdoor seating and relaxation, while the adjoining pasture is suitable for grazing, making it ideal for those seeking a lifestyle property.

A particularly attractive feature is that the land is bordered by the Ventiford Brook, a tributary of the River Teign, which wraps around the plot, enhancing both its privacy and character.
