

A Decade of Success

Trigg & Co was born over a drink – like most great businesses. Two experienced property professionals decide that a new ‘high service’ marketing-led approach to estate agency is needed on the Island – with modern offices for staff and clients, great technology, longer opening hours and a unique proposition that always puts customers first. Ten years later, we have a new modern look and are still innovating and changing with the times, but one thing hasn’t changed – going above

Two old friends, 35 years in property, have a drink at Christmas.
