What is a mortgage?

A mortgage is a long-term loan from a lender that enables you to buy a property. You will need to repay the mortgage (plus interest) over a fixed period, usually 25-30 years, with monthly repayments.

Repayment options

Before you choose a mortgage product it's worth considering what repayment option suits you. There are two main options:

Capital repayment mortgage

This is the standard repayment method for mortgages. You repay the money borrowed in monthly increments, plus interest (a capital repayment). At the end of the mortgage term, as long as you've kept up your monthly repayments, you'll have paid the debt completely and own the property outright.

Interest-only mortgage

The monthly payments are lower as you only pay the monthly interest from the original mortgage amount you borrow. At the end of the mortgage term, as long as you haven't taken out any additional borrowing, you'll still owe the original amount you borrowed so you'll need to organise a way to repay the debt. The options are called repayment vehicles, these could include:

Subject to status & lender criteria*

 We are not able to advise on the suitability of your selected repayment vehicle. If uncertain we recommend that you seek independent financial advice.*

Important information

Repayment vehicles such as endowments, pensions and ISAs are higher risk strategies for repayment of a mortgage and returns aren't guaranteed. You need to be aware that they rely heavily on investment returns that are not guaranteed. It should be noted that most lenders have severely restricted their criteria for interest-only mortgages and some may not lend on this basis. For those lenders that may offer interest-only mortgages, they will generally require evidence of the repayment vehicle and want to see whether it is on track.

Types of Mortgage

The right mortgage product for you depends on your circumstances and how much you can afford to repay each month. The types of mortgage products available include:

Fixed rate

Your monthly mortgage payments are fixed for a set amount of time (usually 2-5 years), which is useful when working out your monthly budget. You are protected from rate increases during this fixed period, but will not benefit from rate decreases.

Standard variable rate

You pay the lenders current interest rate. You may benefit from rate reductions, however you could be impacted by interest rate increases too.

Base rate tracker

This follows an interest rate usually set in line with the Bank of England (BoE) base rate for a certain period of time. It's typically higher and you may benefit from immediate rate reductions, but your payments will go up if the rate increases.

Discount

You pay the lender's standard variable rate, minus a set discount for a fixed period of time. After that time period has finished, you will switch to your lender's standard variable rate. You may benefit from immediate rate reductions, however your payments will go up if the rate increases.

Capped

These mortgages have a set upper value for their interest rates, they cannot go higher than this level, no matter how the mortgage lender's variable rate changes. If interest rates fall, so will this rate.

Flexible/Offset

Offset the amount you're borrowing by linking the mortgage to your savings or current account balances. Some of these products allow flexibility when making repayments or even allow you to make overpayments. With offsetting, you don't earn any actual interest on the accounts you link to your mortgage, instead your savings are used to reduce your mortgage balance.

Bank of England base rate

The official bank rate (also called the Bank of England base rate BOEBR) is the interest rate the Bank of England charges banks for secured overnight lending. Most UK lenders use the base rate to help calculate interest rates on their own products.

Secure a Mortgage

Deposit

Very few lenders require no deposit so you may typically need to raise at least 5% of the value of the property to secure a mortgage with lenders. That means if you were buying a £200,000 home you'd need to raise at least £10,000 before applying for a mortgage.

However, if you raise a larger deposit, you might gain access to mortgage products with lower interest rates, which could potentially result in lower monthly repayments. If you're funding your purchase with the sale of another property, your equity may cover your deposit.

How much can you afford to borrow?

How much you can afford to borrow for a mortgage depends on lots of things: your income, expenditure, financial situation and personal circumstances are all factors. If you're buying a property with someone else, their income and financial situation will also be taken into account.

Lenders need to know much more about you than just your salary before making a decision on how much they're willing to lend by way of a mortgage. The lender will look closely at your financial history and existing commitments before making a decision. This is done for every mortgage application.

Each lender's criteria can be a little different, so what might be enough for one isn't guaranteed to be accepted by another. Speak to one of our Mortgage Consultants who can explain each lender's criteria and advise you on what you can afford. This includes a comprehensive budget planner, which lots of our customers find useful.

Secure a decision in principle/agreement in principle

A decision in principle (DIP) or an agreement in principle (AIP) is confirmation that a lender has checked your finances and is willing to lend you a certain amount, in principle, subject to underwriting.

How to apply for a Mortgage?

Once you've found a property and want to make a mortgage application, our Mortgage Consultant will complete the paperwork. You (and another applicant(s) if you are buying together) should have available the following original documents for your mortgage meeting (you may have already used these to apply for a DIP/AIP). Don't worry if you don't have them all to hand – our Mortgage Consultant will advise you which documents you need, depending on the lender.

Income proof

- Latest P60 and last 3 months' payslips (some lenders may accept less than 3 months' documents)
- If self-employed, last 3 years' audited accounts/SA302 form, including tax year overviews (some lenders may accept less than 3 years' documents)
- Accountant's certificate (which includes their name and address)
- Proof of any bonuses/recent pay rise
- Pension/benefits statements

Address verification

- Utility bill dated in the last 3 months (not a mobile phone bill or junk mail)
- A valid driving licence (as long as the address is correct and it's not being used for photo ID verification)
- Annual council tax bill
- HMRC/DWP letters dated within the last 3 months
- Last 3 months' bank statements (showing income and expenses)
- Latest credit card statement
- Latest mortgage statement (if applicable)

Photo ID

- Valid UK/EU passport
- Valid driving licence (if not being used for address verification)
- Valid firearms ID card

If you're making a joint application, we'll need to see these documents for both of you. Once our Mortgage Consultant has recommended a mortgage based on your circumstances, they'll submit a full mortgage application to the lender with certified copies of your documents (to prove they have seen the originals), details of the property and the conveyancer you're using to complete your purchase. The lender will process your application and arrange a basic mortgage valuation on the property. At this point you may want to consider a survey upgrade for your own peace of mind.

Mortgage Offer

Once the lender is satisfied with the results of the valuation report and the details you provided as part of the mortgage application, they will be in a position to issue a mortgage offer. A copy will be sent to you and your conveyancer, who will continue to work towards exchange of contracts and completion.

Insurance

The mortgage lender will require you to have buildings insurance in place from the point you exchange contracts on a freehold property. Some buildings insurance policies have an element of accidental damage cover included, but you may want to add additional cover for more protection to the physical structure of your new home...

You should consider adding contents insurance to be effective as soon as you start moving your possessions in. You can also add accidental damage cover to this. There are other insurance products you may also want to think about.
